PHILADELPHIA,

FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 12.

COMMERCIALLY IMPORTANT.

Yesterday arrived at Chester, the ship Franklin, capt. Jones in 34 days from Bourdeaux. By this arrival we have received the following important letter. It may be relied on as authentic, as the signature of Mr. Fenwick is in his own hand writing. We expect a regular file of French papers by this vessel—As soon as received the most interesting of their contents will be laid before our readers.

(COPY.)

Paris, Aug. 21st, 1798.

Joseph Fenwick, Esq. Bourdeaux.

Dear Sir,

Thinking it as agreeable to you, as interesting to our commerce, I hasten to inform you I have received to day an official copy of the arrete of the Directory, taking off the embargo laid on our vessels. This arrete is not yet published, but I hope it will be soon in every port of France, and of course put to execution.

Yours truly,

(Signed) FULWAR SKIPWITH.

Joseph Fenwick.

CHESTER, October 10.

ARRIVED.

Brig Eliza, Peterson, from Leghorn

A Gentleman who came in the Eliza, politely handed the following information.

"The Eliza was captured on her outward passage by a corvette of the French republic and carried to Ajaccia, in the island of Corsica, and at the expiration of one month after her capture, was liberated. The expences which accrued in obtaining the liberation of vessel and cargo, were very considerable; as it was necessary to bribe almost all the public officers in the port. Captain Dyre, late of the schooner Variety, of Dunbury, came passenger in the Eliza, his vessel was condemned in Ajaccia. His papers were in the most perfect order; was bound to Leghorn, from Dunbury. His cargo, which was fish, was actually caught on board the schooner in which it was exported, accompanied with every document to prove it American property; and that the fish was cured in the United States. Yet the whole was condemned as English fish, and as being English property, upon the most frivolous and inconsistant pleas.

The Eliza left Leghorn the 12th August, when it was currently reported that a most desperate engagement had taken place between the French fleet in which Buonaparte had embarked, and the British fleet commanded by admiral Nelson, near the island of Candia. The result was (as was generally believed) that Buonaparte was a prisoner on board the Culloden, commodore Trowbridge, and that Nelson was dead. One report was, that he was killed in the action; another, that his ship, a 74, had grapled the L'Orient, the French admiral's ship of 120 guns, that after a most tremendous conflict, the L'Orient sunk, and before Nelson could clear his grappling irons, he was carried down with her, and all on board perished; that the command had devolved on Trowbridge; and that he captured Buonaparte endeavouring to escape in a small vessel, which he had ready for that purpose.

From the foregoing, and the accounts which were prevalent in Leghorn, it was generally believed that Buonaparte was a prisoner. The accounts upon this interesting subject were very contradictory and not authentic; but I took every pains to obtain as accurate information as possible and it is my opinion, that Nelson is dead, and that Buonaparte is a prisoner to Trowbridge. A vessel arrived at Leghorn from Alexandria in 30 or 35 days passage, the captain of which reported that the French fleet had not arrived at Alexandria, and that he saw nothing of the fleets, nor heard of any engagement: As she was consigned to a house in the French interests, no doubt, they would instruct him to say so.

On the 11 July, off Carthagena, the Lion captain Dixon, a British sixty-four gun ship, fell in with four large Spanish frigates returning from Algiers, under the command of commodore O'Neal. O'Neal ordered Dixon to strike his colours, Dixon said he would THINK OF IT, and immediately gave O'Neal a broad side, an action commenced which lasted two hours, when O'Neal made sail for Carthagena, with three frigates, leaving under the care of the Lion, the Dorathea of 44 guns and 136 men, by whom she was conducted to Naples, where she arrived about the 4th of August.

The Dorothea had 30 men killed, and 45 wounded, who were sent to an hospital at Naples. The Lion had one man wounded, since dead. The Lion during the engagement, was so much encumbered with her cargo, that she could not fire all her lower deck guns.

The Emperor has proposed to His Majesty the King of prussia, to form with him and other northern powers, a coalation, tending to protect Monarchical governments against the attack of Democratic republics. The king returned an answer, that the proposal was of a nature so extremely delicate and important, as to demand the most mature consideration; and he requested his Imperial Majesty, in his turn, to acquaint him with the tenor of the secret articles of the treaty of Campo Formio. But this request has for the present been declined by the Emperor, who however, assured His Majesty that these articles did not in the least concern him, and that if he would obtain from the French government leave for their being communicated to him, his Imperial Majesty would most readily comply with his request.

RICHMOND, October 2.

What must add to the affliction which all those are now groaning under, in consequence of the late dreadful mortality at City Point, where one sixth part of the usual number of inhabitants residing there, have been swept off in the course of twenty odd days; is a well founded belief, that all this calamity might have been prevented, if the Excutive of the state, had due attention to the notice which the quarantine officer of that port gave about the middle of August, of the danger to be apprehended from vessels arriving under short passages from Philadelphia. For there remains not the smallest doubt (if any regard is to be paid to the opinion of the several Physicians who have attended there) but that the fatal malady was spread by the ship Nestor of Portland, Charles Wait, master; which vessel arrived at City Point from Philadelphia on the 24th of August, have thrown four dead overboard on her passage. Being without hands to load with tobacco, Negroes were called upon, and out of eleven thus employed, ten have died: and almost every unfortunate case, can be traced to having been on board this unfortunate vessel, or to a communication with the sick therefrom; for those of the inhabitants who have not been thus exposed are yet unusually healthy; and thank Heaven, there appears to be some hope that the king of terrors is at length satisfied with the dreadful carnage which he hath made at that devoted and unfortunate place.

Latest European Intelligence.

LONDON, July 27.

According to the latest advices from Mount Caucasus, peace has been concluded and signed at Tiflis between Russia and Persia. The treaty is tolerably advantageous to the Persian monarch, the court of Russia having given up the conquests which its troops made on that side, except some villages and portions of territory on the Caspian sea, and particularly Derbent and Baccow, which have been already ceded by former treaties. Notw thstanding this peace a body of twenty thousand men remains posted along the river Cyrus. It appears that this little army has given umbrage to the Porte, since orders have been given by the latter, to assemble an army of observation in the neighbourhood.

By a decree of the Legislature of the Batavian republic of the 9th of July, on the application of the Provisional Directory all the members of the second National Assembly arrested last January (the Batavian 18th Fructidor) have been set at liberty.

The merchants of Amsterdam have given public notice of their having received intelligence from Cologne, that with respect to the French tolls on the Rhine, the merchandize shall be expedited in the same manner as formerly until further orders. English goods, or commodities considered as such, to which also belong all refined Dutch sugars, are alone prohibited, and ordered to remain 25 leagues distance from the frontiers.

The following extract of a letter from L'Orient, respecting the state of the Mauritius, is not uninteresting:—"An English brig called the Lucy, taken by the frigate la Seine, has just entered this port. If we may credit the crew put on board of this prize, it would seem that the frigate was bringing back to Europe all the Republican troops which remained in the Isle de France. The flower of these troops was sent to Batavia, to join their brethren in arms, whose ranks have been much thinned by the intemperature of the climate. The remaining troops having declined to go thither, the Colonial Assembly has thought proper to send them to Europe, and the people of colour are ordered to do garrison duty.

Private advices add, that the colonial assembly, after having thus got rid of all the republican troops, has applied for succours to the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope. It will be recollected, that this assembly constantly refused, two years since, to admit the commissaries sent by the Directory. This is the only one of all the ancient possessions of France, which has hitherto steered clear of the horrors of the revolution, which may be greatly attributed to the wisdom of count Macartie, Governor of the island.

The burden of the French hymn which was sunk on the 27th of July, the anniversary of the fall of Robespierre, and on the introduction of the Roman statues and pictures was—

ROME is not now at ROME,
ROME is now at PARIS.

The exactions and oppressions exercised by the French in Rome, where they have latterly been compelled by the sheer poverty of the people to remit contributions to the amount of two millions and a half, have no doubt, compelled many a Roman to exclaim in language similar to that of our Shakespeare, in his Titus Andronicus.

"That Rome is but a wilderness of Tygers."

PHILADELPHIA,

FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 12.

HEALTH-OFFICE,

October, 11, 1798.

THE Board of Managers of the Marine and City Hospitals, felicitate their fellow citizens on the rapid decline of the prevailing fever since the 1st inst. the prosperous state of the City Hospital, and enlivening prospect of a speedy termination of the calamity, which has overwhelmed our city. None can more assiduously desire the return of their fellow citizens in safety, to the comforts of their own fire-side; but they deprecate the consequences of precipitation, where so much caution and prudence is required.

The apprehensionof the Board has been awakened by the too hasty return of many individuals who have inconsiderably hazarded their own health and the public welfare; several of whom, the Board are sorry to add, have been seized with the fever shortly after their return.

The weather since the 6th inst. has been extremely unfavourable, anst the number of the sick have considerably encreased; which would evidently be augmented by the accumulation of persons, particularly those from a pure atmosphere. The Board earnestly solicit public attention to considerations so important; and entreat the forbearance of their fellow, until returning health shall invite them home.

The Board cannot too strongly impress the propriety and necessity of cleansing and purifying (previous to the return of the inhabitants) the bedding, cloathing, and houses, in which the disease has existed; for which purpose they recommend the liberal use of lime. They also repeat their recommendation to the commissioners, to have the pumps frequently and copiously worked, as the water is now extremely offensive and unwholesome.

The board assure their fellow-citizens that whenever the health of the City and Liberties shall be so restored as to admit the return of the inhabitants with safety, not a moment shall be delayed in announciug the glad tidings.

By order of the board of Managers,

Wm. JONES, President.

Attest, TIMOTHY PAXSON

We are happy in copying the following from a late London paper—

Our readers, will see from the paper of instructions sent to the American ministers on the disclosure of the money intrigue, that the government pursue with firmness the simple and honest line of conduct they originally adopted, and declare that they will not buy a peace, even from individuals or the state. We hope this plain and steady deportment will secure to them that blessing.

The navy of America, though not in a situation to bear a comparison with the fleets of Great Britain, is yet respectable as the efforts of an infant State, struggling in defence of its liberties, and is certainly adequate to the defence of the American commerce against the crippled remains of the maritime force of France.

Masters' Place, Oct. 12.

On Friday the 5th instant died of the prevailing fever, in the nineteenth year of his age, Mr. John Nichols, Son of William Nichols Esq. Marshall of the District of Pennsylvania.

By those who knew this young and amiable victim of Pestilence, his virtues will be long remembered, his loss be long deplored. It has happened to few, however, who have been snatched away so early, to leave, in one single trait of character, something speaking, even to the heart of a stranger, beyond volumes of panegyric. The History of the few last days of his life, therefore deserves to be recorded, as affording an instance of friendship, gratitude, and intrepidity, scarcely equalled.

Mr. Nichols had been seized with the fever a few weeks ago, and during his sickness was constantly and affectionately attended by Henry Hillegas, esqr. The strength of his constitution had got the better of the virulence of the disease, and he had just removed to the country, in a state of convalescence, when Mr. Hillegas was seized with the same disorder. His heart told him he owed a debt, and, in his weak situation, he knew he could scarcely pay it with less than life. The whispers of self-preservation were unheard; the intreaties of those who loved him, were too feeble to resist the calls of what he thought a sacred duty. He returned to the centre of contagion, attended the sick bed, watched the expiring moments, closed the eyes of his friend, and in a few days followed him to that place, where they shall part no more.

"Weep not disconsolate friends, he is gone to happier climes"

DIED, on Tuesday the 9th inst. in the twenty-fourth year of his age, WILLIAM MORRIS, Esquire.

The death of this young gentleman may be deemed a public loss. To a strong natural understanding, and a distinguishing mind, aided by an excellent education, he had added great acquirements of knowledge, both of men and things. He possessed a generous and benevolent heart, influenced by the highest sense of honour and integrity.

He was about to enter upon the great theatre of the world, by engaging in the practice of the law. Those who knew him had sanguine expectations that he would become eminent at the bar, useful to society, and serviceable to his country; to which he had that natural and strong attachment which would have led him forth, whenever he could have been useful.

A premature death has blasted these hopes, and left a disconsolate family to bemoan a loss of which they are but too sensible.

This feeble tribute to his memory, proceeds from the pen of one who knew and appreciated his worth.

The Public are hereby informed,

THAT I did not mean to authorise Col. William Nichols to declare, that I would not pay, unless recovered by law, my note alluded to in his caution of the 6th of August, published in the Gazette of the United States of last evening. I sincerely lament his loss, and told him I would do all I could do consistently with my credit to serve him, but went no further.

To be Sold, at private Sale,
A Plantation and Tract of Land

CONTAINING 145 acres, situate in Whitemarsh township, in the county of Montgomery, about 15 miles from Philadelphia, and on the public road leading from Plymouth by the Broad-Ax tavern toward Horsham, and about one quarter of a mile from said tavern, all about the same distance from the Skippack road and about the same distance from the late residence of James Morris esq. deceased. It is bounded by lands of Anthony Morris esq. Jacob Reiff and Detweiler. About ten acres are good watered meadow, about 15 or 20 are under clover, and about 35 acres are well timbered.

The buildings on the above farm consist of a two-story stone dwelling-house, a large stone barn and stone spring-house. There is also on the premises a young orchard of about 150 apple-trees.

This farm has great advantages of water, as there is an excellent never-failing stream passing by the house and barn, in such a manner as to supply the same as well as every field with a sufficient quantity.

The spring over which the spring-house is built, is excellent water, and is also very near and convenient to the dwelling house.

The situation of this place is healthy and in good neighborhood, and is near to several different places of worship, and within the distance of half a mile from two grist and saw mills, also near lime-kilns.

This farm will be sold together or divided into two parts, as may suit the purchasers. All a two-story stone house with a barn and carriage house and lot of land situate on Chesnut-hill. It is a very high and healthy situation, and commands a very extensive and beautiful prospect. Possession of part of the house may be had immediately.
